ATTACK ON ANTWERP BEGUN BY GERMANS.

Austrian Artillery is Believed to be Co-operating with Kaiser.

Lierre Under Shell Fire Since Early Morning. According to a Dispatch to an Amsterdam Paper—Many Houses Said to Have been Destroyed—The Invaders Reoccupy City of Malines.

AMSTERDAM, via London, Sept. 29, midnight.—The Germans have commenced their attack on the first line of defense of Antwerp, according to dispatches received by the Amsterdam papers. Moll, which is an important railway junction near the Dutch border, was occupied by the Germans Sunday, and today the Germans, who again occupy Malines, began a bombardment of Lierre, directly in front of Antwerp. They also continued their bombardment of forts Wael and St. Catharine. It is believed heavy Austrian artillery is being used.

Lierre, according to a message to the Handelsblad, has been under shell fire since early morning. The people at first hid in the cellars, but subsequently fled to Antwerp, being joined by fugitives from the surrounding villages. It is reported that many houses have been destroyed and some of the inhabitants killed and wounded. One shell fell on a hospital, killing nine persons.

OUTBREAK IN BRUSSELS FEARED BY AMERICANS.

LONDON, Sept. 29, 10:25 p.m.—Americans who arrived today from Brussels say most of their countrymen are now leaving that city, fearing outbreaks owing to the strong feeling among the population against the Germans.

As an evidence of this attitude among the Brussels people, it is cited that after Burgomaster-Max was released, numerous placards were posted warning the Germans that if the Burgomaster was injured, the people of Brussels had petrol, vitriol and butcher knives, and would use them.

When the German troops were taking a party of captured Belgian soldiers through the city on Sunday, the crowd became so threatening that in the confusion two of the prisoners escaped. The Germans promptly arrested six civilians to take their places, it is said.

"GOOD-BY, FELLOWS!" GUNNERS' LAST WORDS.

LONDON, Sept. 29, 3:20 a.m.—A Reuter dispatch from Paris says: "Thirty gunners of a British field battery have fallen, killed or wounded. Knowing that they were going to almost certain death, they called out: 'Good-by, fellows,' to their comrades in the reserve line. Two minutes later every man was out of action."

"Thirty more went to the front with the same farewell greeting. The

FOUR BRITISH STEAMSHIPS SUNK BY THE "EMDEN."

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The official news bureau announced today that the German cruiser Emden has sunk four British steamships and a collier.

The statement of the bureau is as follows:

"The Admiralty announces that the German cruiser Emden, during the last few days, has captured and sunk in the Indian Ocean the British steamers Tumeric, King Lear, Ribbia and Foyle, and captured the collier Bursk."

The crews of the above vessels were transferred to the steamer Grytdale, which also was captured.

AUSTRIANS SAID TO HAVE ABANDONED HUNGARY.

LONDON, Sept. 29, 2:10 a.m.—From further independent action. "From the latest news in Galicia, and along the Carpathians, the conclusion is drawn that the Austrian army has abandoned Hungary to its fate and has left the route to Budapest to be defended by the Hungarian national troops," says the Petrograd correspondent of the Daily Telegraph. The dispatch continues: "The Austrians continue to retreat before the pursuing Russians and appear to have given up not only the defense of their country in general, but also to have decided to abandon BRITISH WARSHIP HELPS THE JAPS.

TOKIO, Sept. 29.—An official announcement today concerning the progress of events in Kiaochow, says:

"Japanese forces during the day and night of September 27 drove the enemy in the direction of Tsing Tao. The Japanese casualties were 150. The German losses are not known, but fifty men and four machine guns were captured. This action which was speedier than anticipated, has accelerated the general attack."

The fleet has attacked the Hsin Fort, effectively aided by the army. "A British warship joined with the Japanese in the bombardment, September 28, of two of the Tsing Tao forts. One of the forts replied but

LASSEN PEAK SPOUTING FIRE

The Thing is Acting up Now Like a Real Volcano in Italy.

MINERAL (Cal.) Sept. 29.—Lassen Peak, the volcano whose activities have been growing more pronounced daily, started spouting fire and superheated rock tonight. Seventeen "balls of fire" were counted by a forest service lookout on Turner Mountain, with an accompanying appearance of burning gases. Previous reports of volcanic activity have not been well substantiated.

"NOTHING NEW" PARIS DECLARES.

PARIS, Sept. 29, 11:10 p.m.—The French official communication issued tonight says:

"There is nothing new in the situation."

"On our left wing along the River Somme," the French official statement issued this afternoon says, "the Germans attempted numerous attacks which the allies repulsed."

The text of the statement is as follows:

"First, on our left wing, to the north of the Somme and between the Somme and the Oise, the enemy both by day and by night delivered several attacks which have, however, been repulsed. To the north of the Aisne there has been no change."

"Second, on the center, in Champagne and to the east of the Argonne, the enemy has restricted his activities to heavy cannonading. Between the Argonne and the Meuse there has been slight progress on the part of our troops, who are confronted by strongly-organized positions. On the heights of the Meuse in the Voivre district, and on our right wing in the Lorraine and the Vosges, there has been no notable modification in the situation."

"Finally speaking, our line runs from the east to the west through the region of Pont-a-Museon, Apremont and the Meuse, through the region of St. Mihiel, and the heights to the north of Spada and through a portion of the heights of the Meuse. To the south of the Argonne, the line runs along the front from Ribecourt (which belongs to us) to Lasigny (occupied by the enemy), to which belong the heights of the Argonne, the heights of the Argonne, and the heights of the Argonne."

"On the right bank of the Aisne this line then draws near to the Aisne and continues along the region of Solismont, between Solismont and the forest of L'Aigle, it runs over the first plateau of the right bank of the Aisne. Between the Oise and the Somme, the line runs along the front from Ribecourt (which belongs to us) to Lasigny (occupied by the enemy), to which belong the heights of the Argonne, the heights of the Argonne, and the heights of the Argonne."

"L'HOMME LIBRE" IS FETTERED.

TOULOUSE (France) Sept. 29.—Ex-Premier Georges Clemenceau's newspaper, L'Homme Libre, which was transferred to France from Paris, has been suspended for eight days by Gen. Bailloud, Military Governor of Toulouse.

The general asked M. Clemenceau to take the oath of allegiance to the republic in today's issue which he considered "too violently forward." M. Clemenceau refused, whereupon the general confiscated the whole issue and ordered the suspension of the newspaper.

AMERICANS IN RHEIMS.

The Colony at Present Consists Only of the American Consul, His Wife, Daughter and a Son.

PARIS, Sept. 29.—William Bardel, American Consul at Rheims, his wife, his daughter and his son, the only Americans left in the French city. They have spent most of the time during the last two weeks in a wine cellar, where they were hiding from the German army. They were released by the German army and also to the Tenth, Twelfth, Fifteenth and Nineteenth German army corps.

ORDER A CRUISER ALMOST TO TURKEY

REPORT OF DANGER TO AMERICAN MISSIONARIES IS NOW RECALLED.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Orders for the armored cruiser Tennessee, now at Falmouth, Eng., to proceed at once to Brindisi, Italy, were issued by the Navy Department tonight.

Brindisi is on the Adriatic coast of Italy, directly across the Straits of Otranto from Turkey, and is within fifty miles of the Ottoman Empire. The cruiser Tennessee was dispatched there at the request of Secretary Bryan, following reports from Ambassador Morgenthau at Constantinople, concerning the alarm felt by Americans and other foreigners there.

The report of danger to American missionaries is now recalled.

KAISER'S NEPHEW PUT UNDER GUARD.

LORIENT (France), via Paris, Sept. 29, 10:05 p.m.—Count von Schwerin, the German Emperor's nephew, who was made a prisoner at the battle of the Marne, attempted to escape from Belle Isle, where he was held, and was taken to the citadel of Port Louis (a fortified town three miles from Lorient) where he is being kept under a strong guard.

KING OF ITALY VIEWS MANEUVERS.

ROME (via Paris) Sept. 29.—King Victor Emmanuel, accompanied by Gen. Grandi, Italian Minister of War, witnessed the military maneuvers held today between Brindisi and Vieste. The sovereign and the troops were enthusiastically cheered in all the villages, the people lived in the King, long live the army!

BREAKDOWN OF COMMISSARIAT.

LONDON, Sept. 29, 3 a.m.—According to a Rotterdam dispatch to the Daily Mail, private information from Berlin says that before the retreat to the western frontier, the German commissariat broke down completely. For a fortnight a majority of the German commissariat had been suffering from nervous breakdown and many became insane.

CROWN PRINCE UNDER A LASH.

Baroness De Baye Declares He is a Plunderer.

Insists He Stole Tapestries and Precious Vases.

And Stamped with His Heel on Portrait of Czar.

PARIS, Sept. 29, 7:20 p.m.—Crown Prince Frederick William, during the first days of the battle of the Marne, had his headquarters at the chateau of the Baroness de Baye, near Champagne, Marne, famous for its collection of art objects. The Baroness de Baye writes, says the Paris Temps, thus:

"The Crown Prince plundered the whole place. He stole medals, old arms, rare and precious vases, tapestries, icons, cups and gold souvenirs most dear to my family. He caused to be packed choice pictures and pieces of furniture, but some of these cases were left in the hasty flight of the Crown Prince."

The Baroness affirms, according to the Temps, that the German Crown Prince stamped with his heel on the portraits of the Russian Emperor and Empress in the chapel of the chateau. The police today revised the list of the stolen objects. The Crown Prince wished to stay in Paris a long time, but the Germans have succeeded in pushing a contingent forward.

Thence the front proceeds, northward to the Somme and from which the allies are roughly sketched in the French right still rests on Pont-a-Museon, and from there turns southward to cross the Meuse near St. Mihiel. The Germans have succeeded in pushing a contingent forward.

In the west the wings are in very close touch. The Germans holding Laasigny, which lies between Ribecourt and Roye, which are in possession of the French, and also Chaulmieu, which is in an almost direct line between Roye and Albert.

It is here that the allies have been attacking the Germans, but the Germans have apparently sent out strong opposing forces. The French announcement says that the Germans have been repulsed, but it is evident they are showing plenty of fight and are making a serious effort to prevent the allies from working around their right.

To the north of the Aisne two well-entrenched armies still face each other, neither being able to make much headway while in the center the artillery duel continues in the district between the Argonne and the Meuse.

The French claim slight progress, an indication that they are making heavy attacks to compel the Germans to withdraw from St. Mihiel, where they might break if they did not break, the French report.

The French also report that they captured a number of prisoners yesterday, but did not say where the capture was effected. Both sides profess to be well satisfied with the progress of the fighting. Naturally, fresh troops are being brought up continually, but it is dangerous to say that the Germans are making a serious effort to prevent the allies from working around their right.

BUYING HORSES FOR CAVALRY.

Ten Thousand Missouri Beasts to be Sent to the French.

WARRENSBURG (Mo.) Sept. 29.—Orders were placed with a local horse and mule firm today by agents of the French government for the delivery of 10,000 cavalry and artillery horses in Memphis, Tenn., as soon as they can be obtained.

A special train carrying 340 horses passed through Poplar Bluff this morning en route from Ft. Worth to Toronto, Can., where they are to be shipped to Europe for use by the British army. A Canadian in charge of the train said six similar trains were to follow within a few days.

JAPS DRIVE GERMANS FROM THEIR POSITIONS.

London Hears of Successes by Her Ally in the Far Eastern Zone.

In a "Spurt of Fierce Flames from Sea and Land" the Invaders are Alleged to Have Forced the Foe from Shelter—Chinese Burn a Railway Bridge and Thus Co-operate with the Teutons.

LONDON, Sept. 29, 8:30 p.m.—"The Japanese occupied all the high ground outside Tsing-tao (seat of government of the German concession of Kiaochow), overlooking the German main line of defense, before noon Monday," says a statement given out by the official news bureau tonight. The communication continues:

"They began an attack on the advanced positions four kilometers (two miles and a half) from the enemy's main line at dawn. In a spurt of fierce flames from sea and land, they drove the enemy from his position."

PEKING (China) Sept. 29.—The Germans in Kiaochow have evacuated the Waldersee line of defense before an overwhelming force of the enemy. Tsing-tao is now completely invested. The German losses were small.

This information is contained in a dispatch received here from a German source at Tsing-tao, Shantung, which evidently is a wireless communication from Tsing-tao. It adds that the Japanese armored cruiser squadron bombarded Tsing-tao Monday without doing any damage.

Japanese official reports corroborate the foregoing and explain that the engagement occurred Monday morning. They declare the Germans are now back on their main line of defense, five miles from Tsing-tao and that Japanese troops occupy heights commanding the German positions. Three German warships inside Tsing-tao Harbor and two Japanese aeroplanes participated in the fighting.

Chinese officials would not say tonight whether the blowing up of the railroad bridge at Tsing-tao, six miles west of Waldersee by Chinese troops, had been ordered by the government or not. It has been learned, however, that the Japanese Minister here informed the Foreign Office that the road into Tsing-tao, capital of Shantung province, to this the Foreign Office refused to agree. The information was obtained in high confidence today that it is the wish of President Yuan Shi Kai to avoid trouble with the Japanese. The military map of China, however, are under German influence and a large number of Chinese troops recently have been mobilized in Shantung province.

A missionary writing from Tsing-tao, Shantung, says that the Japanese have been very well. The conflict of 8,000 Japanese who went through the city was exemplary, he said. They occupied houses from which the people had fled, but these people have run away from any army. It is a fact that they stole chickens from the houses and then were plundering their purchases and then were plundering their purchases and then were plundering their purchases.

JAPANESE BESIEGERS ATTACK THE GERMANS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—A cablegram received from Tokyo tonight by the East and West News Bureau here, contains corroboration of press dispatches to the effect that the Japanese besieging army yesterday morning began an attack on the German advance position outside of Tsing-tao, the seat of government of the German concession of Kiaochow.

The cablegram says that "braving the formidable cannonading from the fortresses and warships, the Japanese army succeeded in driving out the enemy from his position and occupying at noon of the same day the heights that command the German main defense line. During the fighting the cruiser Elizabeth and other warships in Kiaochow Bay cannonaded vigorously the flank and rear of the Japanese army."

Thereupon the Japanese fleet announced in previous messages, according to the cablegram, which was the additional information that the German regime was overthrown. Maj.-Gen. Barnardiston took part in the general attack, holding a position in the Japanese center.

The cablegram concludes: "One of the aeroplanes also fired several shots from guns mounted on German warships and the other aeroplanes, either the aeroplanes or the aeroplanes."

MOLL OCCUPIED BY THE GERMANS.

ROTTERDAM (via London) Sept. 29, 11:50 p.m.—The Belgian driven out of Moll, a town some eight miles northeast of Louvain Sunday, and the place is now occupied by the Germans, according to dispatch to the Rotterdam news bureau.

More Trouble for the Dutch.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—A dispatch to the Evening Star from Petrograd says that the Russian government has decided to support the Dutch government, which is being attacked by the Germans.

The Dutch government is being attacked by the Germans, which is being attacked by the Germans, which is being attacked by the Germans.

CHINA IS NEUTRAL, DIPLOMAT INSISTS.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—China will keep its strict neutrality, according to Gen. Hwang Hsing, Chinese Minister of War in the Cabinet of Sun Yat Sen, who arrived here today.

"I do not think more than a show of protest will be made against the Japanese journey across the Chinese land," he said. "China doesn't want war and knows better than to array itself against the allies who are its friends."

Germany has a wonderful machine. It will be hard to down and it will be impossible to predict the end of the war. The present battle it means a long protracted war.

This war is one of the last of the terrible struggles that must take place to win the world from the wrongs and misfortunes of imperialism to the freedom, peace and opportunity of the world. It is believed, would

BRITISH CRUISERS AT PUNTA ARENAS.

PUNTA ARENAS (Chile) Sept. 29.—The British cruisers Good Hope, Monmouth and Glasgow, under the command of Rear-Admiral Sir Christopher Cradock, arrived here today.

Punta Arenas is on the Strait of Magellan and all vessels going through the strait from the Atlantic to the Pacific stop there. It is evident that the British Admiralty has decided to send these cruisers into the Pacific, for they sailed from Montevideo between the 9th and the 11th of September.

Brass Band at Statton to Welcome Him.

The return of Rev. Baker P. Lee.

Reverend of Christ Church, at the Santa Fe station yesterday. Chief Sebastian is shaking his hand, and outside the new police band was blowing its collective head off in honor of the department chaplain back from Europe.

HOME-COMING MEDLEY AND A SWIFT MARCH.

WITH a band to meet him, a committee to greet him and hundreds to say "Hello," the Rev. Baker P. Lee arrived at La Granda Station yesterday as traveler, pastor and friend. A Councilman was edged aside by a negro porter in the rush of handshakes, his small son had only time to kiss him and ask him, "Did you bring me anything, daddy?" and then the committee took him in tow.

To do him honor as the chaplain of the department, the police sent four sections in their brief training, and then the committee took him in tow. To do him honor as the chaplain of the department, the police sent four sections in their brief training, and then the committee took him in tow.

Long before the train was due the band was assembled outside the station. Chief Sebastian and Councilman of Police Owen were at the gate and Councilman Snowden had gone down from the city hall. Then the vestry of the pastor's church, represented by H. C. King, John Kingsley and T. A. Williams, arrived, and Rev. Mr. Lee's family.

Members there were Mrs. Josephine Holmes, Mrs. H. C. King, Miss Mary Joist, Gen. Johnstone Jones, Mrs. Martha Wright, Mrs. Cora Brough and Archibald Sessions. And then there were merchants and prizefighters, business men and bootblacks, and some from all classes who could call the returning traveler friend.

So the family. Of the church members there were Mrs. Josephine Holmes, Mrs. H. C. King, Miss Mary Joist, Gen. Johnstone Jones, Mrs. Martha Wright, Mrs. Cora Brough and Archibald Sessions. And then there were merchants and prizefighters, business men and bootblacks, and some from all classes who could call the returning traveler friend.

Much-troubled Boise Man Sues, Charging Fraud.

Supposed Realty Formality Threatens Property.

Col. Frank C. Woodford, the Idaho capitalist who was met with a $50,000 breach of promise suit when he came to Southern California to make his permanent home, has gone to his Colton orange grove to patrol it against servers who are attempting to dispossess him. He left his expensive rooms in Long Beach and a bed of rheumatism to go on guard. In the fight $30,000 is involved.

The details of the trouble that has put the Idaho capitalist to policing his own grounds are contained in a complaint filed in the Superior Court of San Bernardino county yesterday, in which he charges fraud and misrepresentation in the alleged juggling of a trust deed and promissory note.

Those he holds responsible are Ray Zug, a real estate broker, and a title insurance company of Los Angeles.

The complaint was filed by Attorney A. C. Vaughan, who is defending Col. Woodford in his suit for breach of promise. It was three days after the Idaho capitalist had come to Long Beach to make his permanent residence that Mrs. Elva Fowler Cloud accused him of having promised to wed her. When she learned that Col. Woodford had been happily married for many years, and had brought Mrs. Woodford to Long Beach with him, she immediately filed the suit for damages.

The deal which brought Col. Woodford to Southern California is involved in the complaint. It was yesterday that he traded apartment property in Boise valued at $70,000 for an orange grove at Colton, assuming a mortgage of $20,000 on the property. It was during this deal that it is alleged he made the trust deed and promissory note to Ray Zug, assuming the mortgage of $20,000 on the property. The deal was made clear in the documents from hand to hand is a remarkable detail of the suit.

"MATTER OF FORM." Col. Woodford affirms in his complaint that he does not recall having signed the deed or note, for any purpose but to satisfy a formally desired by one of the parties to the transaction. It was understood at the time, he alleges, that the deed and note were not signed. The complaint says: "The deed and trust note was fraudulently represented to be a mere matter of form."

From a matter of form they became a very real agency when agents of the Sheriff's office called at the Colton ranch and attempted to get possession of it because of the unpaid payments on the deed and note were not made.

Without consideration of any kind, Col. Woodford alleged that he made the deed and note payable to Ray Zug of Pasadena, but did not deliver them to him. Another feature which the courts will be asked to make clear is how the deed and note were taken from escrow where they were placed, and given into the possession of any of the defendants.

In the complaint, Col. Woodford reports that he does not think that Ray Zug ever had the deed and note in his possession or ever saw them or knew that they were in existence for several weeks after the execution. It is alleged that Ray Zug was a dummy in the transaction.

The transfer of the property did not occur until June 15, according to the records, and the endorsement of the deed and note to Zug to Mary E. Peck carries the date May 26, some two weeks in advance, when the papers were still in escrow.

Miss Mary Peck then transferred the papers to W. B. Wilson on May 27, still two weeks before the transfer of the property. It is charged that Wilson took the deed and note to satisfy a $3000 debt owed him by Leon Figueroa, Miss Peck's employer.

SEEK TO DISPOSSESS. It was Wilson that sought to dispossess Col. Woodford for alleged non-payment of the note and public notice was printed that the trust company would sell the Colton orange grove on October 24, to satisfy the deed and note. Because of additional expense in the collection charges and costs, $2000 has been added to the original claim and $22,000 is now demanded.

Through Attorney C. H. Woodford asks the court to declare the deed and note null and void, that the defendants produce them and that the defendants be enjoined from selling the property.

Until the courts take some action, Col. Woodford will remain on the Colton property to defend it against any attempt to take possession.

FEDERAL INDICTMENTS. The federal grand jury yesterday afternoon reported the following indictments: Felix R. Horine, charged with embezzling money taken from letters at Station C, where he was employed as a clerk, the stealing by his own confession amounting to $500; Jose Gonzales, charged with smuggling three Chinese contrabands across the border; H. J. Love, who it is alleged violated the Mann white slave act, bringing Mary Johnson into California from Tennessee for an immoral purpose. All of the accused are in custody, with the exception of Horine, who is at liberty on bond.

CITY'S "ICE MAN" FOR YEARS DIES.

WELL-KNOWN CAPITALIST WAS IN BUSINESS HERE FOR QUARTER-CENTURY.

John Cashin, 49er and one of the organizers and long a director of both the National Ice and Cold Storage Company and the Union Ice Company, died in San Francisco yesterday morning, aged 87 years. Though never a resident of this city, Mr. Cashin's activity in business matters here had extended over a quarter of a century, and until some years ago, he was accustomed to make regular trips to this city.

Born in Ireland, Mr. Cashin came around the Horn in a sailing vessel in 1849, bound, with many other Irish emigrants, for the gold fields. After mining for a number of years in this State, Mr. Cashin transferred his activities to the Comstock at the inception of the "boom." Later he came to Idaho and still later went into the cattle business on an extensive scale in the Sacramento Valley.

Something over twenty-five years ago he embarked in the ice business on a small scale in San Francisco. The business prospered, and led to the founding of the National Ice and Cold Storage Company in this city in partnership with Joseph Martin, Nicholas Olandi and John A. Buck. The same men afterwards started the Union Ice Company. The first concern was sold to an English syndicate some years ago and Mr. Cashin thereupon retired from active business life.

Besides his widow, Mr. Cashin leaves the following children: J. O. Cashin, division superintendent, and D. K. Cashin, cashier, of the National Ice and Cold Storage Company, Los Angeles; John P. Cashin, Seattle; Mrs. Charles J. Heggerty and Misses Margaret and Nora Cashin, San Francisco; and Sister Superior Venencia of San Leandro Convent, near Oakland.

Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been announced.

MANILA NOT FOR HIM. Victor Vistaciano, alias Victor Porro, the Filipino, charged with the murder of William Edward Heger at Olongapo, P. I., in the fall of 1908, and who is under arrest in San Francisco, is making a fight in the Bay City, resisting removal to Manila, for trial. He has been identified by several Los Angeles witnesses. He says his name is not Vistaciano.

FIGHT TO SAVE THEIR PAY ROLLS

Railroads Face Million and Half Loss Monthly.

Must Cut Terminal Rates, but not Interior Ones.

Canal Competition Basis of Appeal for Life.

Predicting that railroad pay rolls in Southwestern territory will be reduced within a year by $1,500,000 a month, or one-half, unless the carriers are permitted to cut South Pacific Coast terminal rates to the pattern provided by the steamship companies immediately following the opening of the Panama Canal, Secretary and Traffic Manager Gregson of the Associated Jobbers announced yesterday that his organization will join the traffic department of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce in an appeal to the Interstate Commerce Commission to negative important provisions of the intermountain rate decision.

"We have first to make the interior shipper see that some rate cuts are not beneficial," said Mr. Gregson yesterday in discussing the proposed appeal. "Under the decision in the intermountain case any reductions that the railroads might make in terminal rates would operate to automatically reduce interior rates. Consequently, the railroads face starvation either way they turn. If they reduce the terminal rates, interior rates go down and earnings vanish. If they don't, the steamship companies get the business."

Mr. Gregson says the Interstate Commerce Commission will therefore be asked to permit the railroads to reduce the terminal rates without corresponding reductions in rates to the interior. Mr. Gregson and Traffic Manager Seth Mann of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce expect to appear before the Commission at its sitting in Chicago on October 6.

KILL GREAT INDUSTRY, KEEP PEOPLE AWAY?

State Viticultural Commissioner Says California "Dry," Besides Destroying Immense Grape Business and Throwing Seventy-five Thousand Out of Employment, Would Check Tourist Traffic.

ASSERTING that there is growing alarm among the owners of California's large tourist hotels as to the inevitable injury which the tourist business in this State would suffer next season and the radical diminishing of the attendance at the San Francisco and San Diego expositions if State prohibition should be voted in November, State Viticultural Commissioner H. F. Still arrived in Los Angeles yesterday from the north to confer with Secundo Guasti, the largest vineyard owner in Southern California.

Mr. Still added that it is now expected California will receive next year much of the enormous American tourist exodus which in past years flooded Europe, but which is now forced to seek elsewhere for winter and summer resorts, owing to the war abroad.

Of the $200,000,000 ordinarily spent every summer across the water by pleasure-seeking Americans, California will undoubtedly share the largest amount during the exposition year, providing that there is no serious hindrance to their coming, such as the drastic State prohibition forbidding the serving of wine or any alcoholic beverage with meals at cafes and hotels.

So deeply concerned are certain of the managers of large hotels that they have privately figured out the amounts of perishable produce and other supplies purchased every year from surrounding growers and merchants, the totals amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars. With the passing of the prohibition law, these managers declare, they absolutely would be forced to close their doors for lack of patronage, as the majority of travelers, especially those who have hitherto visited Europe, demand wine served with their meals, and this ever-growing crop of produce and fruits, producers of fresh meats, poultry, eggs, cheese and butter, would permanently lose their present ready markets.

WIPE IT ALL OUT? "Californians do not realize the terrible seriousness of the threatened blow to prosperity their State would receive if the prohibition law were carried," said Commissioner Still. "Figures have been quoted from time to time by the press throughout the State showing the immense value of viticulture in California, but the possibility of a vast business being totally wiped out of existence in a moment's time inspires me to refer again to the figures which attest to the gigantic extent and value of the wine and raisin industry flourishing here."

"In California there are 330,000 acres of land devoted to grapevines; 170,000 of these acres are planted to wine grapes, 110,000 to raisin grapes and, roughly, about 50,000 acres to table grapes."

PROGRESSIVE LEADER CONDEMNS GOV. JOHNSON.

Calls Him a Menace, Selfish, "Always Full-paunched Lawyer with the Fishy Eye of Calculation," and Boss of Powerful Political Machine—Says Johnson Hated Woman Suffrage.

GOV. HIRAM JOHNSON, "well known in California," has fallen upon evil days. Those who know him best are beginning to tell what they know. He is in bad with the Progressives, especially those outside of California—and also with the Francis Heney followers in California.

George Creel, a rather pestiferous professional reformer himself and sometimes known as Blanche Bates's husband, is sponsor for an article in this month's Everybody's Magazine which says "crool words" about the Governor. Creel is Progressive, an everlasting Progressive that he approximates anarchy at times. But Creel knows Hiram Johnson and has an intimate acquaintanceship with Hiram Johnson's personal friends.

And what Creel says of Gov. Johnson is to be taken with confidence. Creel knows him as well as anyone of him. The article is well worth reading.

JOHNSON'S LOVE OF FEES.

Where was Hiram, Creel asks, when California was struggling with its problems in the days between 1902 and 1908? Johnson, he tells us, "was never at any time a Peter the Hermit or an Oseawatomie Brown, but always the full-paunched lawyer, with the fishy eye of calculation." Johnson was not with the people then—he was collecting fees.

Johnson's greed for fees is notorious. Creel does not tell of the outrageous defense made on behalf of Daniel Brown, bank robber, but Creel does tell "that it was to Johnson that Langdon turned when Heney asked some local lawyer to prepare papers in the graft prosecution. For his services in the first Schmitz trial he rendered a bill for $15,000, a proceeding that came as a shock to Spreckels and Phelan, who were paying all expenses."

It is said that as a compromise, "Spreckels flung Johnson $10,000 and intimated that he was too much of a luxury for retention."

JOHNSON HATED WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

And now that Johnson is appealing to the women to support him, now that he is telling them how much he did for them, it is interesting to read what the inside facts of the matter were. Creel says that Johnson did not want the women to have equal suffrage in California.

"True to type," Creel writes, "he hated equal suffrage, and because of his public sentiment made it a word for him to do so, he spoke no word for it to the Legislature nor mentioned it in a single speech when the amendment went to the people."

JOHNSON WHOLLY SELFISH.

And now follows the analysis of Gov. Johnson's character and of his treatment toward his associates: "The deeper one goes into his public life, the closer he is approached, the clearer comes this quality of absolute selfishness. Behind every action an indomitable selfishness is seen lying in cold coils."

TRIES THE ROOSEVELT POSE.

"He tries hard for the Roosevelt pose, but a sedentary habit precludes the physical boldness that enables Roosevelt to secure effects of interest and enthusiasm, and the result is a public attitude like that of the lord of the manor mingling with the tenacity. At many turns he is seen to prefer subordinates to associates, and his most obvious characteristics would seem to be a colossal vanity that feeds on grossest flatteries, and envies that consume him like a fever."

"Francis J. Heney of all men would seem to deserve well at the hands of Johnson, yet he hates him rancorously."

JOHNSON FIGHTS HENEY.

Creel then relates how, during the 1910 campaign, Johnson, trembling with hate and fear of Heney, sent Heney a document of which the following is the essence: "The Heney policy is now one of conciliation. We have the ultra-reformers with us and our job is to get the other fellows. You've done everything you could, and your presence now would only irritate the reactionaries we are trying to win over. Of course, we appreciate your noble work in the past, and sincerely hope that some day you will witness reward for all your sufferings. But leave out of California for the time being."

HIRAM WAS JEALOUS; STILL IS.

"It was true that Johnson wanted to carry water on both shoulders, but the deeper reason was his hot desire to shove Heney out of the limelight, to get rid of his rivalry, and to clear the stage of one who would share applause."

Mr. Creel says—and it will surprise all Progressives not on the "inside"—with bluntness: "Even today, when Heney is making the fight of his life for the United States Senate, his chief obstacle is the antagonism of Hiram W. Johnson."

CARES NOTHING FOR PLEDGES.

Johnson's "refusal to let pledged faith interfere with personal aggrandizement is also disclosed in the La Follette incident. Johnson was among the first to swear allegiance to the Wisconsin Senator, yet when the Foot of Clay.

Roosevelt men in the La Follette camp, choosing a moment of physical collapse that lent itself to ghastly exaggeration, deserted in a body to Roosevelt. Hiram Johnson—fervent himself and telegraphed a complete change of orders to his appointees. Not content with this, he launched the La Follette and vindictive attack on the man who was fighting for Progressivism when Hiram Johnson did not know whether it was a disease or a toothache.

JOHNSON THE TRAITOR.

"Rudolph Spreckels, in open speech, denounced him as a traitor, and pointed to the suddenness with which he had abandoned the man who had been his ally and intimate friend. Spreckels as evidence of the complete control that Gov. Johnson holds over the political machine he has so ineffectually tried to do similar work to that indicated in Supervisor Norton's resolution, by parties whom he knew were playing politics."

POISON THREATS.

Mr. Plummer, in informing Friedman's stand, testified that he had been threatened with poisoning, and had stayed away from home owing to a dread of bombs. He stated that he had not dared to use the milk left at his house for a long period, owing to the fear of being poisoned in so doing. Supervisor Friedman reiterated this statement.

County Auditor Lewis testified to having free access to papers in the District Attorney's office.

CORRUPTING THE STATE.

"Like the one speck of rot, his lack of faith and vision, his incapacity for disinterested effort, are being absorbed by the rank and file, and petty greed is crowding out all warmth and breadth and brotherhood. This is the curse of the Johnson type, and its menace."

That is the picture of Johnson, drawn by one who knows him and has studied him—a picture drawn by a fellow-Progressive who has no personal fight to make against Johnson and no fear of him.

COUPLE TOLD TO GO HOME AND

FOR SIX MONTHS.

According to Justice Forbes, the best way to arbitrate domestic differences is to order the warring couple not to talk to each other for a specified period. He fixed this period yesterday in the case of John Hotman, a well-to-do Calabasas ranchman, and his wife, for six months, holding that the question of twin beds was not one for the court to settle.

"That's a matrimonial problem," he said. "I don't think a wife should insist upon it unless there are plenty of bedclothes for two beds. You people talk too much; go home and don't talk to each other for six months."

Mrs. Hotman charged her husband with threats to kill her. He kept a revolver, she said, and she declared she would not sleep in the same room with him for any time.

"She believes in twin beds," spoke up Mr. Hotman, "and she wants all the covers on her bed." He also said she wanted him to sell out and come to this city, where the tango is in fashion.

The Municipal Employment Bureau has become the Mecca of hundreds of newly-arrived "tourists" from all parts of the United States, who have come with the intention of remaining in Los Angeles. Registrations within the past two weeks have suddenly jumped from an average of thirty a day to 105 a day.

Taking twenty-five applications at random of men who had just signed up, Manager W. N. Cunningham showed yesterday that eleven men had lived here as long as one year and fourteen a shorter time. Eight of the latter have been residents only a few days. Despite the fact that some of them are almost penniless they insist that they must have work in their own trade, refusing labor and preferring to become city charitable charges.

"Winter months always bring a big floating population and it would be an excellent thing if the city government would plan its road work, park improvements and other developments through this season, rather than at the height of the summer, when it is difficult to find enough men," said Manager Cunningham. "This would give assistance when it is most needed and decrease the number of persons who must depend on the Municipal Charities Commission for support."

had the privilege of investigating the records.

"I plead for those men who cannot protect themselves if their names are printed as having given evidence. No other motive for a political one actuates the presentation of the resolutions, and I challenge the one who presented them to prove the contrary. I do not think they should be drawn into a controversy of this kind."

"If we are to have a secret service fund let us have a secret service fund, and if we are to use a megaphone to gather evidence, let us give it some other name than secret service."

Supervisor Norton then asked if there were any minutes to substantiate the investigation which had been mentioned.

"Natural not," said Mr. Friedman, "for we had to safeguard the men engaged in the work. But the District Attorney will explain how the money was spent. I will see that he shows every voucher to you, Mr. Norton."

A hot exchange of words between the two Supervisors was incident to the contention of Mr. Friedman that political motives were at the bottom of Mr. Norton's attack. During the course of this latter assertion, that his motives were as pure as those of Mr. Friedman. The latter substantiated his contention by saying that he had been approached to do similar work to that indicated in Supervisor Norton's resolution, by parties whom he knew were playing politics.

PRICES ON FURS NOT INCREASED

The F. Obrikat Fur Company will not increase prices on furs this season. Citing the fact that imports of furs have been stopped by the war, furriers everywhere have been increasing prices. Prices here will be lower than ever.

This company has received safely its season's stock. The entire stock of new 1914-1915 garments can be had at unusually low prices notwithstanding the increased prices elsewhere.

Never were such exclusive and beautiful designs presented as these. Everything is new. In our windows are now displayed many leading styles, together with prices.

Those who want furs this season will be able to secure the latest and best—the product of our own shops—at a cost which others cannot meet. This will be—as it always has been—an Obrikat year. Value is here as it never has been before.

Indorsed several candidates for the same office during the primaries, the expectation is that the "support" of Phelan will be shortly divided with one of his opponents—say Heney or perhaps Undermann.

Republican women of Precinct No. 1 will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. R. Bacon, No. 106 North Avenue 66. The meetings so far conducted during the campaign have been interesting and much good for the Republican party has been accomplished.

Precinct organization work for this city is such advanced shape, under direction of the Organization Committee of the Los Angeles County Republican Central Committee, that within a few nights regular precinct meetings will be held. The precinct clubs will also be an aid to the speaker's bureau, which is arranging for a thirty-day whirlwind campaign.

CHANNEL PEAK MINING COMPANY'S METHODS AIDED CHARGES OF STOCKHOLDER.

P. E. Daniels wanted 500,000 shares of stock of the Channel Peak Mining Company, capitalized at 1,000,000 shares of $1 each, in return for doing assessment work. The other directors of the concern objected. It was suggested that 200,000 shares would be a fair compensation. It was alleged that Mr. Daniels declared he must have 400,000 shares, or he would not do the work. And he was given that quantity.

This was only one of many interesting details of the methods of the company, which were brought to light yesterday in Judge Shank's court. It was declared that the stock was practically worthless when the directors consented to give 500,000 shares, but consented to give 400,000.

W. J. Bert bought a block of stock of the company, then doing business under the laws of Arizona. He brought suit against Mr. Daniels and the company as a stockholder, to compel the surrender to the corporation of the laws of Arizona. The plaintiff alleges the company was reorganized under the laws of California, and that by a conspiracy of the directors, Mr. Daniels came into possession of notes to which he was not entitled. The case will be continued today.

NORTON QUESTIONS LEGALITY OF FAIR ENTERTAINMENT APPROPRIATION.

A considerable degree of heat developed at the meeting of the Board of Supervisors yesterday between Chairman Friedman and Mr. Norton, when the latter questioned the legality of the appropriation of $415,000 for entertaining visitors here to the exposition.

Upon the motion of Supervisor Norton it was decided to ask the County Counsel for an opinion of the legality of the appropriation to be filed before noon tomorrow, on which day will be held the joint session between the Supervisors and the 1915 Executive Committee.

In connection with the affair Supervisor Friedman accused Supervisor Norton of having taken the public into his confidence before the Supervisors.

"WATCHFUL WAITING."

Representatives of the cotton-raisers of the Imperial Valley met yesterday with executive officers of the California Cotton Producers' Association to consider plans for emergency-marketing of a portion of the 83,000-bale crop of the great valley. Because of the Southwestern Pacific freight rates, action was postponed until a later date.

Upon the motion of Supervisor Norton it was decided to ask the County Counsel for an opinion of the legality of the appropriation to be filed before noon tomorrow, on which day will be held the joint session between the Supervisors and the 1915 Executive Committee.

In connection with the affair Supervisor Friedman accused Supervisor Norton of having taken the public into his confidence before the Supervisors.

Italy's Development.

(Baltimore American.) Italy has shown a wonderful commercial development within the last twenty-five years, and during that period has nearly doubled both its imports and exports. It is all the more remarkable when it is considered that during that period, from a purely agricultural country, it has largely become commercial. This is demonstrated by the yearly increase in the importation of raw materials.

ENDEAVOR CONVENTION.

City Union will begin its Annual Session in First Presbyterian Church Friday Evening.

The annual convention of the Los Angeles City Union Christian Endeavor will be held in the First Presbyterian Church on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, opening on Friday evening and closing at 7:30 Sunday afternoon. The session of the convention on Friday evening and that of Saturday afternoon, there being none in the forenoon, will be devoted to conferences and addresses on the various departments of the work, closing with a banquet at 6 o'clock, Saturday evening, when officers will be elected and Rev. Guy W. Wadsworth will deliver an address on "California Dry."

Sunday morning at 7 o'clock a prayer and testimony meeting will be held by Dr. John B. Bacon, and at 9:30 a. m. there will be a young people's mass meeting, for which the following program is offered: Devotions, Rev. Harry Hillard, installation, Herbert Rankin; presentation of banners; address, Rev. French E. Oliver of Kansas City; solo, Mrs. Fred P. Rosster; decision service, Leon V. Shaw. The junior rally will be held at the same hour.

Has a Ton of Children.

(St. Joseph News Press.) Mrs. John Laird of Cardiff, Or., announces her intention of visiting the White House with her ten children, described as "one of the largest and probably the heaviest family on the Pacific Coast."

"I only weigh 145 pounds," says Mrs. Laird, "but I have one ton of children. My heaviest son is 20 years old and weighs 185 pounds, and three others turn the scale at 245 pounds each. My youngest child is 10, the eldest 35, and the total weight of the ten is 2045 pounds, an average of 204 pounds."

Works of Art Destroyed.

(Pittsburgh Dispatch.) Advice from Louvain state that priceless works of art were destroyed by the Germans there, namely: "The Descent from the Cross," "The Last Supper" and the fifteenth century screen entitled "The Martyrdom of St. Erasmus."

WAS MISERABLE COULDN'T STAND

Testifies She Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lackawanna, N. Y.—"After my first child was born I felt very miserable and could not stand on my feet. My sister-in-law wished me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and my nerves became firm, appetite good, step elastic, and I lost that weak, tired feeling. That was six years ago and I have had three fine healthy children since. For female troubles I always take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it works like a charm. I do all my own work."—Mrs. A. F. KRAMER, 1574 Electric Avenue, Lackawanna, N. Y.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, diarrhea, or nervous prostration. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for female ills.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should be convinced of the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health by the many genuine and truthful testimonials we are constantly publishing in the newspapers.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

WHEN EVERYBODY DUCKED.

Articles of Table Decorations But-lets in Near-battle in Spring-street
Cafe, so They Say.

A melee in a downtown cafe, in which steins flew and women, armed with tobacco bottles and salt and pepper shakers, participated, was described to Police Judge White by witnesses in his court yesterday. M. E.
Robertson, a railway fireman, the storm center of the affair, was found guilty of disturbing the peace. Sentence will be imposed Thursday afternoon.

The testimony showed that Robertson was one of a party composed of himself, George R. McKenzie, Beasie McKenzie, Catherine Neiland and Mrs. Mary P. Christensen. After an automobile ride they went to a cafe at No. 235 1/2 South Spring street.
They were shown to a table next to that occupied by Elmer Christensen, former husband of Mrs. Christensen.
Christensen and Robertson immediately recognized each other as antagonists, and clinched. Christensen, breaking away, picked up a chair and swung it at his adversary. The women came to the rescue with various missiles and weapons from the table before them, and the disturbance was not quelled until Patrolman King intervened. He brought both men to ing on passengers, and cutting corners.

Two men won suspension of sentence after conviction by furnishing satisfactory reasons for not being fined. One, B. J. Doak, testified that he was hurrying on Washington street to the Santa Fe station to meet his father, who had fallen ill. H. Chinard, the other, said he was the sole support of a family of five, and the court suspended a fine of $25.

Man Told not to Drive Automobile

and is Fined.

C. J. Yeager, 24 years old, a machinist, was found guilty of driving an automobile while intoxicated, in Police Judge Chambers's court yesterday afternoon. He was arrested at Sunset boulevard and Figueroa street by Motorcycle Officer Carter after residents of the neighborhood had telephoned the police that the machinist was stalled in the traffic and could not extricate himself. Taken to the station, Sgt. Hollwell recognized Yeager as the man whom he had warned the same day near the Plaza that if he entered his machine he would be arrested. A passing fire wagon took the officer's attention

Dedicating the olive branch to war-torn Europe.

Mayor Rose officiating at the impressive ceremony which yesterday dispatched the fruits of the "Garment of Love" movement to the Red Cross. From left to right the little girls are Dorothy Wellborn, bearer of the olive branch which lies in front of her, Dorothy Cooke, who carried the American flag spread over it, and Henrietta Bohon, who bore the roses.

sonal," rose from the lips of members of the choir of Immanuel Presbyterian Church yesterday as two clergymen of widely-different denominations blessed the contribution of the women of the Red Cross of Los Angeles to the oppressed of Europe.

In fifty-eight plain pine packing boxes, "garments of love," consecrated to the memory of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, were thus sped on their long way to the blood-stained cities and hamlets of Western Europe by the Los Angeles committee of the American Red Cross. More than a year fell as Dr. John Balcom Shaw's voice trembled in an appeal to the "God of Nations" to still the "unrighteous tumult."

In the name of this flag, the flag of peace," said the Mayor, in placing the American flag in the last of the big packing boxes, "and in the name of the sympathetic womanhood of Los Angeles, these offerings of love are sent to the oppressed of Europe. With them goes the sympathy of rich and poor; the outpourings of the hearts of those who find in peace its victorious."

Fifty-eight boxes there were, containing a total of 15,000 articles, clothes for the wounded, irrespective of nation, and for the wives, the mothers, the sisters and the children of those engaged in the continent-rocking conflict, also surgical bandages, medical gauze and a what-not of other articles.

On the sidewalk in the shadow of the West Seventh-street skyscraper in which the women of the Red Cross committee, headed by Mrs. W. J.
Chichester, have made their headquarters, the last of the many boxes laid open during the consecration ceremonies.

First the women of the order, dis-vesting themselves of their Red Cross caps and arm-pieces, passed around the box, and each one laid her scarlet-crossed cap and arm-piece atop the varied garments, then the Mayor followed and laid the American flag over the whole. Following, little Miss Dorothy Cooke placed the flags of the contending nations within the box, then came petite Miss Henrietta Bohon with a basket of California roses to be showered over the whole.

Lastly, Miss Dorothy Wellborn nestled an olive branch among the roses and the box was sealed.
As this ceremony concluded, Rabbi Hecht of Congregation B'nai B'rith read the sixty-seventh Psalm, and Dr. Shaw, pastor of Immanuel Presbyterian Church, pronounced the benediction, ending with the significant words, "Oh, Lord, how long, how long."

William J. Burns in moving pictures at the Mason Opera-house is a strong and commanding figure, even in that illusive environment.

All the exciting events of his calling of the counterfeiter who was scheming to rob the United States government of a huge sum of money are shown with realistic detail, and the story is the more fascinating because it is true, in the main events. A romantic thread runs through the tale, having to do with the love of a counterfeiter's daughter for one of the detectives.

Taken all in all, the pictures are well worth seeing, especially as the methods of the counterfeiter are exposed, and the working of the plan with which the operation was carried out.

Woodley.

"Mother," at the Woodley, yesterday, made a hit. It was like seeing the play over again to look at the picture, for it was staged by the original New York cast, with Emma Dunn in the leading role.

Cine's Broadway.

John Bunny and Flora Finch appear in a light-hearted comedy at Cine's Broadway.

Also Heena Liar in his amazing adventures never fails to please.

Mozart.

No more pleasing picture could be imagined than "The Chimes," showing this week at the Mozart. The play is adapted from the famous story of Charles Dickens, and is full of absorbing scenes that arouse the sympathies and stir the emotions. The picture is excellently staged and acted. The entire cast is composed of the Dickens Players of London.

Miller's.

Cyrus Townsend Brady's "The Better Man," in four parts, from Frohman's Famous Players, is being excellently done at Miller's, this week, by William Courtleigh.

"The Story of Chopin," a beautiful colored picture of an incident in the composer's life, accompanied by a specially arranged programme, is another most attractive feature.

"IOLANDE" AT THE MAJESTIC.

A good-sized audience greeted the Gilbert & Sullivan Opera Company last evening and Dr. W. C. Hopper appeared at his best in his portrayal of the part of the Lord High Chancellor in the beautiful and tuneful "Iolanthe."

This is the bill that Los Angeles theatergoers have apparently been waiting for, for we have not had "Iolanthe" here since the time of the "Iolanthe" tour, when the Earl of Arrarat, Arthur Aldridge as the Earl of Toller, was inimitable, and Idelle Patterson as Phyllis was charming and in excellent voice, and was forced to respond to several encores with Mr. Hopper. Tonight's bill, as well as the matinee, will be the ever-tasteful "Pinafore," with Mr. Hopper appearing as Dick Deadeye.

The Car for the Critic

Men who have owned other automobiles are the most enthusiastic of all the visitors calling at our showroom to inspect the new Oldsmobile Light Four, for they alone can fully appreciate its marked superiority over all other cars of its price class.

All the experience gained by fifteen years of building automobiles has been focused in this Light Four. Retaining the beautiful lines of the Oldsmobile Big Six, all the honest quality, which has characterized it as the "greatest six-cylinder car in America," has been reproduced in proper proportions in this 112-inch wheelbase machine.

Inspect this new car. Note the Delco electric starting and lighting system; the overhead valve motor; the beautifully finished body; the Circean walnut woodwork; the sturdy hickory spoked wheels—and remember that you are looking at a car that is truly worthy of the name, Oldsmobile.

CHAMPION CUSSER STALLINGS CINCHES PENNANT.

BRAVES CRUSH THE CUBS WHILE BOB HARMON HOLDS GIANTS SAFE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

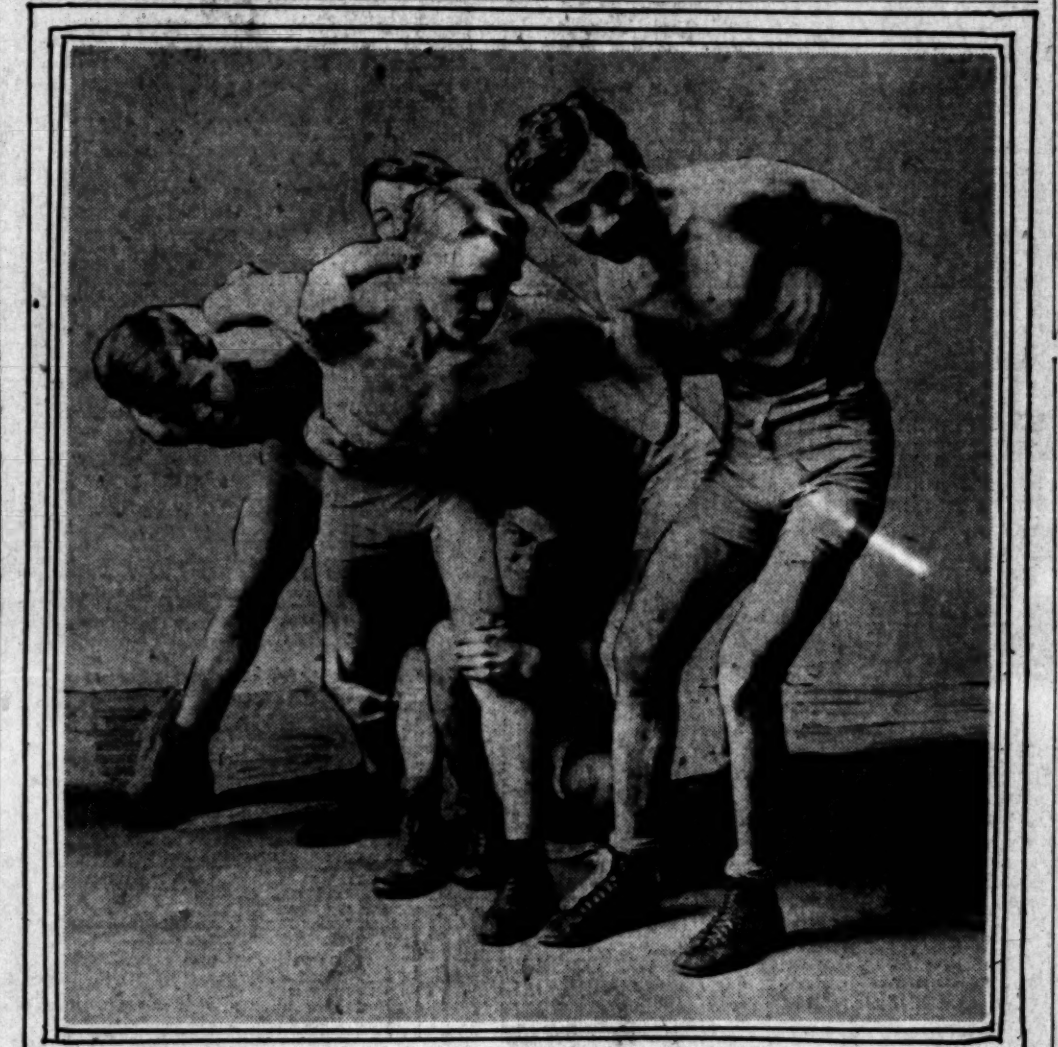

BOSTON, Sept. 29.—After a long season in the cellar and then a sensational spurt which in six weeks carried them from the bottom to a tie with the league-leading Giants, the Boston Braves today cinched the National League pennant by defeating Chicago while the Giants were losing to Pittsburgh. The Braves can now lose all the games remaining on their schedule and still finish in first position.

The spurt of the Braves has been one of the most remarkable feats in the history of baseball. With a team composed largely of cast-offs from other major-league teams, Manager Stallings started them on their march toward the top on July 14, and on September 2 tied the Giants for first place.

Since that time the Braves have continued to hit a wild pace until they are now nine full games ahead and have clinched the championship.

The Boston team has been apparently built up around two men: Manager Stallings and Second Baseman Johnny Evers, who last year was manager of the Chicago Cubs.

The Braves are to meet the Philadelphia Athletics for the world's title, at present held by the latter, next month, and although on paper they are considered but a poor bet, the local fans are confident that they will be returned winners.

Kid Williams, Bantamweight champion of the world, who, after a single battle in defense of his title, finds himself unable to make the weight and now looms up as a dangerous contender for the 125-pound title. This photograph of him wrestling with four husky sparring partners, shows the tremendous strength of the Dane.

CHIP IS MADE A HUGE FAVORITE OVER MURRAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—Not one whit dismayed by the prohibitive odds laid against him, Fighting Billy Murray is going into his return match against George Chip tomorrow night fully convinced that he will wipe out the knockout registered against him some weeks ago by the Newcastle scrapper.

Chip is a 2-to-1 favorite on the general result. Even money is also offered that Murray will not last the limit, and Chip money is going begging even at so long a price.

It was a rattling good contest while it lasted before, and pugilistic fandom is banking on the same things happening again. For this reason a good house is anticipated.

"I licked him once and I'll lick him again," is Chip's line of reasoning. Murray makes the argument that he was not in the best of shape when he last fought Chip. If Murray can improve he has an excellent chance not only of staying the limit, but of outpointing his opponent, say some fans.

Other experts say Chip ought to repeat. He knocked Murray out once, and if precedent counts, ought to do it again.

TIGERS GET CATCHER AND TWO HEAVERS BY DRAFT.

HAP HOGAN had a horseshoe in his hand when he put in his drafts this year, so it would appear, for a late hour last night Gene Doyle rushed to the phone with the news that the Tigers succeeded in drafting all three men for whom they put in a bid.

It would appear that, contrary to the present style of physique in the Venice team, the three newcomers are of heroic mold, Gene swearing by all that's Irish that no one of them drops below six feet.

The three men are Haley of Des Moines, a catcher, and said to be one of the best in the Western League; Grover, a young heaver, right-handed who tossed 'em over for Topeka this season, and a gent named Walker hailing from the Michigan State League.

The Venice authorities feel highly elated over their manifest streak of luck in the draft and go so far as to predict that they will, during the coming four weeks of the Coast League season, grab the championship as their good fortune in the draft presages equal good luck for the rest of the season.

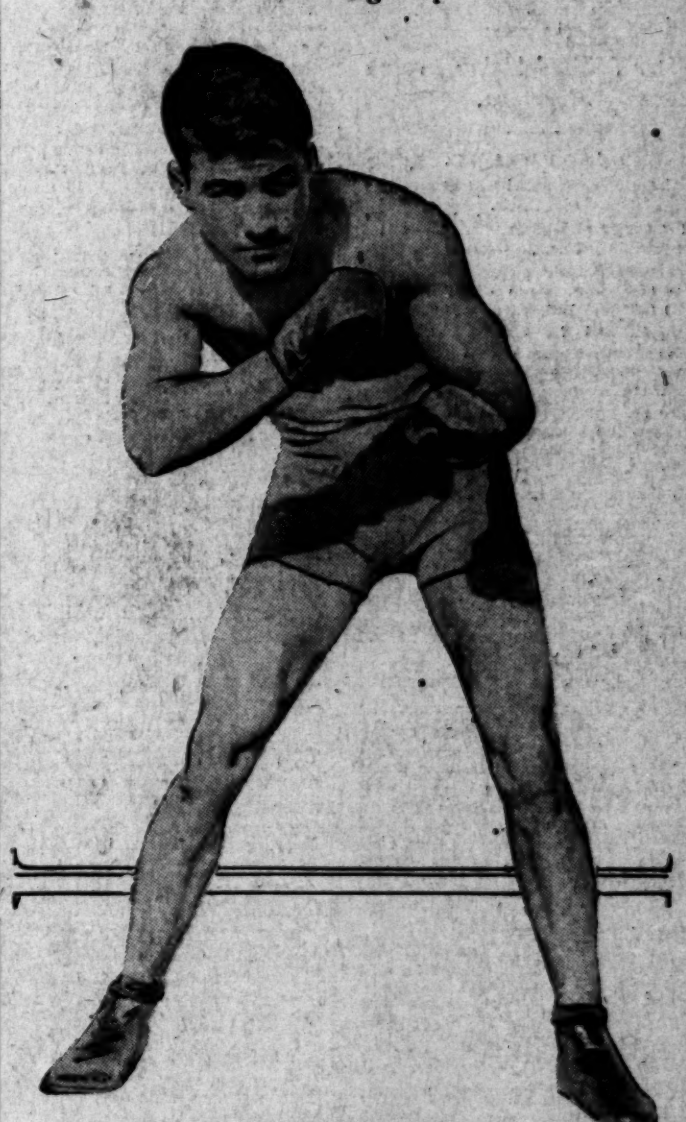

As the Tigers are to spend the remaining four weeks of the season right here in their own back yard, it is easily seen that they have the best prospects in the world to grab the gonfalon, providing they have the necessary stuff on the ball and ginger behind the bat.

ARMY-NAVY GAME MAY NOT BE HELD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Because of the failure of West Point and Annapolis to agree on sites for the Army and Navy football game, Secretary Garrison today recommended to the West Point authorities that the game be abandoned permanently.

Climbing Up.

Johnny Dundee, Once considered the real contender in the featherweight class, whose increase in weight makes him one of the most-feared fighters in the lightweight division.

DUNDEE AND WILLIAMS TO CONQUER NEW WORLDS.

Johnny Dundee Doped to Win the Lightweight Title from Freddie Welsh in Terrible Fight—Italian's Body and Scot's Brain Hard to Beat—Kid Williams Too Heavy for Bantams, After Kilbane.

[BY DONALD O'BRIEN.]

THOSE two little fighting bulls, Johnny Dundee and Kid Williams, are to make the sensations of the boxing world next year.

Two different champions will have good reason to shiver with alarm at the news that Dundee and Williams have crossed the border and are about to begin an invasion of new divisions.

Dundee has become a lightweight and is the most dangerous contender for Freddie Welsh's title; Kid Williams paid $200 forfeit money Tuesday night because he couldn't make 116 pounds for Kid Herman. Those who know his manager, Sammy Harris, realize that, if cutting a leg off Williams would have sufficiently reduced his weight, that forfeit money never would have been paid. It is evident that next year, Williams will be found fighting as a featherweight.

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS.

As a challenger for the featherweight title, Kid Williams will give Johnny Kilbane some sleepless nights. Fighting Kid Williams will be a very different affair from the soft stuff by which Kilbane has been earning his board and keep. Williams won't be like K.O. Mars or old Uncle Abe Attell.

The little Dane is not an exceptionally clever boy; but he has shown his fights with Eddie Campi that he doesn't care how clever they are or how fast they come. A boy of the type of Williams is more discouraging to a speed marvel like Kilbane than an Attell. Boys like Kilbane find their speed wasted on the rugged strength of boys like Williams and Dundee.

There may have been faster boxers and harder hitters in the bantamweight division, but Kid Williams is without doubt the strongest boy who ever held the title. He is a veritable five-foot giant.

DUNDEE TO THE FRONT.

Of all the lightweights reaching for Freddie Welsh's title, Dundee seems to me most likely to lift it. Last New Year's Day, the two fought in New Orleans and it was only a brilliant and foxy rally in the last round that saved Welsh from being defeated by Dundee. Since then, Dundee has improved wonderfully and Welsh has probably gone back.

Welsh could defeat all the other lightweights in the ring with ease. Those who claim the right to fight him for the title are the following: Charley White, Willie Ritchie, Leach Cross, Joe Mandot, Ad Wolgast and Dundee. Charley White is fast and a hard hitter, but he has a heart like a fish worm. And it takes a game boy to fight Welsh. It takes more real courage to miss and miss and keep WINGO, MAGEE AND DOLAN OF ST. LOUIS SIGNED BY FEDERALERS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) Sept. 29.—In addition to these luminaries Exposition Park was honored by the presence of the entire St. Louis National team, with the exception of Manager Miller Huggins.

Several of the players including Lee Magee spent a good part of the afternoon on the Pittsburgh players' bench while the game was going on. Schlafly before leaving for Buffalo tonight refused to admit or deny that he had signed the players. From an official of the Federal League, however, whose word is reliable, it was learned that the three players named had been signed up by the Buffalo manager early this morning.

President Gilmore in speaking of the much-rumored peace plans, to be under way with organized baseball, said:

"I think Mr. Weeghman was misquoted when he said that we would not make peace. We will, but not at their dictation. We will have the last word."

WHY SERAPHS DIDN'T PLAY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 29.—The freight cars jumped the track near Drain, Or., and the Los Angeles baseball team in the passenger following were delayed three hours, arriving too late for the game today.

FILM FIAMS

BY GRACE KINGSLEY.

William C. De Mille, author of "Strongheart," "The Woman," and "The Warrens of Virginia," arrived in the city last Saturday. Mr. De Mille is brother of Cecil De Mille, director of the Lasky studio, and is assisting in the staging of "The Rose of the Rancho."

Mr. De Mille will collaborate with his brother in the writing of the scenario for "The Girl of the Golden West," shortly to be produced by the Lasky company. Also he has a new play in mind, some of the scenes of which are to be laid in California.

Mr. De Mille says that in his opinion the moving picture managers will have to raise their prices and the theater managers will have to lower theirs, in order to equalize patronage.

The Os Film Company, with Mr. Frank Baum in charge, has an ideally constructed studio and stage out at the old Cole residence in Colegrove. There are twelve acres of ground connected with the place, where all the big scenes can be built.

The stage is an immense affair, containing a system of connecting trap doors, under which is a great concrete basin which can be filled with water when "water stuff" is required.

Fred Woodward, the animal actor, has a unique outfit of animal costumes, consisting of alligator, lion, tiger, donkey, cow, dog, kangaroo, ostrich and others, all worked by an ingenious system of strings. A still more wonderful elephant suit is now being built for him, for one of the Os fairy tale pictures.

"You know I never have been an elephant," he said yesterday, "so I shall have to rehearse that trunk and those ears a lot."

The Os company, when they finish "The Scarecrow," will begin on the film dramatization of a book written anonymously by Mr. Baum, the title of which is "The Last Egyptian." Mr. Baum lived in Egypt for three years, during which time he collected many interesting curios, some of which he will use in the new photoplay.

Those who have viewed "Cabiria," the great moving picture being shown at the Trinity Auditorium, this week, will be interested in the fact that two years were consumed in making the film, that 5000 people were used, that the scenes shown were gathered in six different countries of Europe and Africa, and that over 4000 people were transported from 500 to 800 miles to appear on the summit of the Alps, or amid the sands of Algeria, the islands of the Mediterranean, or the deserts of Spain, France, Italy, Sicily and Tunis.

Ernesto Pagan, the Italian actor impersonating the huge body servant, Maciste of the Roman patrician, Fulvius Axilla, in "Cabiria," was discovered as a giant porter on the quay in Naples, where he was working for $20 a month. He was selected for his wonderful physical strength, but possessing likewise intelligence and acting-ability, was coached for the part. Now he is drawing several thousand dollars a year, for not only did he create the role of Maciste, but played the part of Ursus in "Quo Vadis," and is now an important factor in the work of the Italia Film Company.

The Balboa Amusement Producing Company, at Long Beach, are announcing that free instruction in the art of writing moving pictures will be given by their own scenario writers, during the remaining months of the present year. "Every manuscript sent to the company's scenario department will, if found unavailable, be returned to the author with a lengthy statement regarding the demerits of the script."

Wheeler Oakman and several other members of the Selig company, have just returned from San Francisco, where some dock scenes for "The Rosary" were staged.

Eugene Pallette of the Reliance-Majestic, who has been confined to his home for about two weeks with an attack of the grippe, is back in harness again, in "A Woman Scorned."

The Black Hans Studio plays a prominent part in "Casey's Vendetta," a rollicking farce produced by Eddie Dillon at the R. & M. Mutual studios. Fay Tincher, Tom Broxton, Max Davidson and Miss Ashton are the other principals in the cast.

Otis Turner has returned from his vacation, and will go to work today at the Universal studio, starring "The Suburban," a drama by James Dayton. This is a four-reel race story, in which appear also Herbert Rawlinson, William Worthington, Frank Lloyd and Anna Little.

I understand that Daddy Manley, 85 years old, is in the city and will take part in some Universal films.

Bess Meredith is back at work again feeling fit for the first time since she began testing the remedy for the prevention of rabies, but she still mourns the loss of her dog.

Myrtle Stedman of the Bowditch, Inc., is spending much of her private time in raising funds for the victims of the war. She and her friends are making pretty things and selling them for the wounded men of the great trouble across the pond.

Ethel Vincent, in "Lady of the Lobby" in more senses than one. Very clever is Ethel. She is who originated the idea of lobby displays of pictures at the moving picture houses, and who started the fashion at Clune's a while ago. Now she's bought a photograph gallery, and proposes to photograph the movie people.

Carl Morris, "the Oklahoma Enquirer," is to box Jim Flynn at Kansas City, October 5. The bout is scheduled for ten rounds, to a decision.

Golf Dope.

JEROME TRAVERS STATES VALUE OF THE PUTTER.

Winner of Many Amateur Championships Differs With Other Experts—Where Big Victories Are Won and Lost—The Weakness of Chick Evans Lies in His Poor Putting—Oulmet Is Complimented.

JEROME D. TRAVERS, who has won the amateur golf championship of the United States several times, estimates that the value of the putter is 45 per cent. He arrives at this conclusion in the course of an interesting article printed in the American Magazine. The average golfer, he says, starts out with seven clubs. If these clubs were of equal value each would represent a playing usefulness of about 14 per cent. But this is where the system cracks.

"There is one club in the bag," writes Mr. Travers, "that has a greater value than 14 per cent. It is the shortest, lightest and smallest club of the entire lot, the simplest and yet the hardest to play, the club that many unknowns can handle well and yet a club that baffles an Evans and a Vardon from one year to another, the putter, and I put its playing value at 45 per cent, as against 55 per cent for the remaining six, seven or eight clubs needed for the round."

"Forty-five per cent, is too high a rating for any one club, a number of experts have said to me; but if I have made a mistake here, it is on the short side. I only wish some of those who underrate the tremendous value of the putter had been at Brookline last September when the open championship of America was at stake. If they had, they would have gone away with a different opinion and put the value of the putter at 75 per cent. Alce Smith, the well-known professional, kept tra of different scores turned in through this tournament, and he figures that of every 100 shots played, seventy-five were taken on the putting green. It was no uncommon sight to see crack golfers reach greens over 400 yards away in two perfectly played shots, and then scatter three or four putts all over the green before the bottom of the cup was reached. I saw one crack professional get within four feet of a 400-yard hole in two shots and finally get down in six."

WHAT CHICK EVANS LACKS. Mr. Travers thinks Chick Evans would be almost unbeatable among amateurs if he could putt as well as he plays other shots.

"During the last championship at Garden City I watched Evans practice one morning," continues Mr. Travers. "I watched with some envy the very fine way he drove a dozen perfectly hit balls from the tee, straight down the course. Then I saw him station his caddy 150 yards away and play twenty-five iron shots in succession within six feet of where that boy stood. Shot after shot left the club on a perfect line and at perfect height, dropping within easy reach of the caddy's hand. There was another golfer in the tournament who could have approached this work. It was almost miraculous."

"And then a few minutes later on I saw him putt, and I knew then that he still had a lot of trouble ahead of him, for even in practice it was easy to see that this one shot was still denied him. He lacked the confident bearing, and the easy pendulum swing with the right follow through had not yet come. And yet, before anyone blames Evans for this, it should be remembered that the great English professional, who in other respects is far and away the greatest golfer of all time, if Vardon's putting was up to the rest of his game he could give any golfer alive four strokes and romp home in front. If Evans could putt like Walter J. Travis it would be foolish to stage an amateur championship in this country. The result would be written down in advance."

OULMET'S PUTTING IS GREAT. "Francis Oulmet, America's young open champion, did very fine work at Brookline last fall with wood and iron. But with these he was certainly no better than Vardon and Ray. He was not so good. But he achieved a feat beyond all other record holders and sent his name spinning on through golf history, because when the time came he could thump the ball into the cup from almost any angle or distance on the green. He was putting like a champion, and all the wizard work of Vardon and Ray up to the greens couldn't offset the young American's ability within twenty feet of the cup, where he was either 'in or dead' to the hole on his next shot into the cup."

"I consider that no fluke, because I know that Oulmet is a very fine putter and one with a wonderful temperament for the game. He has a beautiful putting stroke, stands well over the ball, and with the necessary pendulum motion has a perfect follow through. If you follow his play, you rarely find him short on any putt. His always gives the ball a chance, and at Brookline last fall he also gave several thousand a series of nervous shocks by the way in which he ran on three and four feet past the cup—whenever he missed. But he always holed coming back, showing that his confidence was supreme."

"When I met Oulmet for the first time at Garden City in the 1913 championship, I had not formed any opinion as to the work I had ahead until I saw him make his first putt. I knew that I had my work cut out, for this part of his game impressed me at once, and I knew what it meant to meet a high-class putter in match play. He soon began dropping eighth, tenth and twelve footers, and I had all I could do to stay with him. In fact, at the end of twenty-five holes I was one down with a good chance of losing the twenty-sixth until I managed to stick a long iron shot up and go down in one putt."

NEW ANGLE OF THE GAME. "There is a new angle in this connection that I should like to bring out. We all know that there is less of the physical and more of the psychological in putting than in any other part of golf. To be putting well, in fact, at the end of twenty-five holes I was one down with a good chance of losing the twenty-sixth until I managed to stick a long iron shot up and go down in one putt. It is a new angle, for if a putt is one-half of an inch off the line the shot is absolutely wasted. So it is my belief that a man must conserve his nervous force if he is to keep putting well through a tournament."

THE ART OF PUTTING. "I know well enough," remarked a golfer recently, "that putting is the most valuable part of golf. But how can a poor putter learn to become a good one?"

"The answer is obvious: By practicing, and practicing only in the right way. You see golfers standing on a tee practicing driving for an hour or so at a time or putting the same time into iron shots. And then perhaps they will practice putting ten or fifteen minutes. When I started golf I spent as much time, or more, at putting as I did with all other clubs put together. I worked for hours at a time—worked, worked and worked until I obtained confidence in my club. I have frequently practiced putting all the morning and then have gone out to play in the afternoon when I had the day off for play."

"But at the same time one must practice intelligently. Routine practice without giving any thought to the shot will not help nearly so much. To become a good putter I believe that a man should stand well over the ball so that he can all the easier get the line of the putt. I don't believe in standing over too far, for this is likely to develop a feeling of cramped play. And by standing fairly erect there isn't the same tendency to swing the club with a pendulum motion, using his hands and wrists with the body perfectly still."

TIGER VARSITY TAKING FORM.

VETERANS RETURNING SEEM TO MOLD TEAM INTO SHAPE.

The Occidental Tigers went through another day of signal drill yesterday. Every move that went with the signals was thoroughly done over and the idea of the plays pounded into the heads of the slow thinkers and the fat-brained individuals.

Ex-Capt. "Tad" Jones was out with his laugh to add enthusiasm to the occasion.

Capt. Pipal has not announced when he will hold his first scrimmage, but it is probably come the latter part of the week.

The freshmen held their first practice yesterday and two full teams were on the field.

Warren at center, Pete Walker at tackle, Kohler at end showed up like big leaguers.

The Tiger varsity itself is taking on a formidable appearance. With Squires and the two Stearns boys back in the line, and with "Shorty" Smith as a sub half, the lack of subs has been largely eliminated.

GIANTS TO MEET HIGHLANDERS.

TWO NEW YORK CLUBS WILL PLAY POST SEASON SERIES.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.) NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The New York National and American League baseball clubs will meet in a post-season series which is to be begun on Thursday, October 8, the day before the opening of the world's series.

Announcement that the series had been arranged was made tonight.

The University of Pennsylvania and Harvard University, who have at times alternated in holding the annual intercollegiate track and field championship meet, will have a worthy opponent in Cornell University, who is adding a new field as a part of its up-to-date equipment. The champions track will be an improvement over all those built in recent years. There will be two straightaway 220-yard courses, one for the dash and the other for the hurdle race, which now requires five hurdles in the final heat.

SCHULTE HAS A UNIQUE RECORD.

Hit Like a Fiend in World's Series Games.

Failed in Two Games Out of Twenty-one.

Coombs and Nick Altrock Baffled Him.

BY ERNEST J. LANIGAN.

Frank Wildfire Schulte, sole surviving member of the once-powerful Cub machine, is not going to be voted an auto by the Chalmers jury of newspaper experts this fall, but he holds one record that may never be shattered—not made this year, however.

The record in question is in the line of consecutive hitting and was made in series for the championship of the world.

F. Wildfire, the records show, missed connections with the sphere only in two of the twenty-one contests for baseball's greatest honors in which he took part. He got one or more safe wallops in each of the contests played in 1907 and 1908, missed once in 1906 and missed once in 1910.

THE OTHERS.

The engagements in which Schulte went hitless were with the Sox on October 12, 1908, and with the White Elephants on October 18, 1910, the pitchers who placed zeroes in Wildfire's base hit column being Nick Altrock and Jack Coombs. Schulte is the only player who has ever hit safely in every game through two successive world's series.

The lone athlete who has binged in every contest of a six-game series is "Chief" Meyers of the Giants. He did this in 1911 against the Athletics.

THREE OF 'EM.

Players who have hit safely in each game of a five-contest series are Schulte, who has done so twice, and Eddie Collins and Danny Murphy of the White Elephants. They have performed the stunt once in each series.

The best record for a seven-game series in the consecutive-hitting line is to get six safeties in six contests. Tom and Darry Jones of the Tigers and Hans Wagner of the Pirates hold a record of this kind. For an eight-game series the best exploit has been to get bingles in seven games. In 1903 the trick was turned by four players—Stahl and Collins of Boston and Sebring and Clarke of Pittsburgh—and in 1912 Yerkes and Speaker of Boston accomplished the feat. In 1903 Stahl got one or more hits in every game except the first. The men who annually have made the best records in the consecutive-hitting line in games for the world's title are named below:

Series of 1902—"Chief" Stahl and Jimmy Collins of Red Sox and Fred Clarke and Jimmy Sebring of Pirates each hit safely in seven of the eight games. Stahl missed connections in the first game, Stahl in the eighth, Clarke in the fifth and Sebring in the fourth.

Series of 1905—Roger Bresnahan and Arthur Devlin of Giants each hit safely in four of the five games. Bresnahan missed connections in the third game, Devlin in the fifth.

Series of 1906—Frank Schulte of Cubs hit safely in five of the six games, missing connections in the fourth.

Series of 1907—Frank Schulte of Cubs hit safely in all five games.

Series of 1908—Frank Schulte of Cubs hit safely in all five games.

Series of 1909—T. Jones and D. Jones of Tigers and Hans Wagner of Pirates hit safely in six of the seven games. T. Jones missed connections in the first game, D. Jones in the sixth and Wagner in the fourth.

Series of 1910—E. Collins and D. Murphy of White Elephants hit safely in all five games.

Series of 1911—"Chief" Meyers of the Giants hit safely in all six games. Meyers of 1912—Steve Keosauqua and Tris Speaker of Red Sox hit safely in seven of the eight games. Yerkes missed connection in the seventh game, and the Chalmers car winner in the sixth.

Series of 1913—"Rube" Oldring, Eddie Collins, Frank Baker and Jack Barry of White Elephants hit safely in four of the five games. Oldring missed connections in the fifth game, Collins and Baker in the fourth and Barry in the fifth.

Taking the men who have played in fifteen or more games for the championship of the world, one finds that next to Schulte, Frank Baker hit most steadily. The American League Frank got safeties in 13 out of 16 contests. Eddie Collins' record is 12 out of 16; Ty Cobb's, 12 out of 17; Jack Barry's, 10 out of 16; Sam Crawford's, 11 out of 17; Danny Murphy's, 11 out of 16; Harry Davis's, 11 out of 16; "Chief" Meyers's, 12 out of 15; Larry Doyle's, 11 out of 15; Johnny Everett's, 10 out of 16; Frank Chance's, 14 out of 20; Artie Hoffman's, 12 out of 16; Hans Wagner's, 11 out of 15; and Fred Clarke's, 10 out of 15.

Walter Knox, the Canadian all-round athlete and chief coach of the English Olympic team, in a letter to James G. Merrick, president of the Canadian Olympic Committee, states that athletic affairs are practically at a standstill in England. "The war has taken public interest to the exclusion of all other affairs athletic," states Knox, "but so soon as affairs take a decisive turn sports will commence to pick up again. Knox tells how he won the all-round championship of England by beating F. R. Crumb, all-round champion of Great Britain. Knox says the competition consisted of eight events and ran for two days. In the first series of contests Crumb won the hammer throw with a heave of 115 ft. against 105 ft. for Knox. Then he won the high jump, clearing 5 1/2 ft., while the best Knox could do was 5-3 ft. Knox won the 120-yard hurdles and the 100-yard dash in easy fashion. On the second day Knox showed his ability, throwing the sixteen-pound shot 45 ft. 7 1/2 ins., nole vaulted 11 ft. 3 ins., and in an exhibition vault cleared 11 1/2 ft. He won the running broad jump with 21 1/2 ft., and threw the discus 114 ft., 10 1/2 ins.

Eddie Plank and Jack Coombs of the Athletics have each purchased several two-story dwellings in Philadelphia for investment purposes. The deal was put through by Ira Thomas, captain of the Athletics, who is in the real estate business in the Quaker City.

BUILDING LAWS COMMISSION ON PHILADELPHIA PLAN.

Chief Engineer Mulholland Advises Against Large Water Mains in Buildings, as They Might Cripple Fire-fighting Service in Case of Extensive Conflagration.

The Building Ordinance Revision Commission held one of the most important meetings in its history yesterday afternoon. Secretary Mark Cohn presented to the members the tentative draft of the provisions to be included in the proposed new building ordinance covering the subjects of fire escapes, smoke-proof towers, counter-balanced ladders attached to fire escapes, exterior and interior standpipes, basement pipe inlets, automatic sprinkler systems and allowable floor area for all classes of buildings.

The subjects were given general discussion and final action on this portion of the ordinance was set for October 12.

One of the special points of interest in this discussion was that in regard to sprinkler systems, and the fact that shall be placed upon the size of the mains allowed. Chief Engineer Mulholland appeared before the commission and urged that no larger than six-inch mains be allowed in the case of an extensive fire they must reduce the pressure in the street mains to such an extent as to seriously cripple the fire department. In no case, he advised, should the sprinkler system mains be more than one-fourth of the capacity of the main to which it is attached.

Another interesting phase was that in regard to requiring counter-balanced ladders for attachment to lower fire escapes where they are located more than twelve feet above the ground, and the provisions for the use of what is termed the Philadelphia smoke-proof towers.

These towers are to be enclosed with brick, and to have no entrance from the interior of the building itself, but to be reached by balconies outside the building, and to contain stairways, whereby the persons coming out of the buildings and other eastern cities, and is highly recommended by Fire Chief Eley. Chief Eley also concurred with Mr. Mulholland on his recommendations regarding the sprinkler system.

Various persons were before the commission to present the advantages of their particular sprinkler system. The next important subject to be taken up by the commission is that of stairways of classes. This will be taken up next week.

The commission is now holding meetings twice a week, at 1:30 o'clock on Tuesday and at 10 o'clock on Wednesday, and it is making good progress with the revision work.

TIME TO PAY.

CITY MUST BUY BONDS.

Ninety thousand dollars' worth of machinery ordered for the aqueduct power plant, and now lying useless out in the mountain fastnesses, is unpaid for. The Pelton Water Wheel Company, the sellers, have reached the limit of their patience, and demand their dues—at least a substantial payment of about $25,000 on this account.

But the power bonds to the amount of $5,000,000 are unsold, and that is the only source of supply.

To meet the imperative present demand the City Council yesterday decided to have the city itself purchase the first block of the aqueduct power bonds. The formalities in the way of resolutions, etc., providing for the purchase of thirty-nine $1000 bonds, and payment of the accrued interest, from the aqueduct bonds sinking fund, were carried through the council yesterday. This will require a withdrawal from the sinking fund of $39,282.70 for the purchase of these bonds.

There is in the sinking fund at this time about $450,000. The city is advancing from the revenues secured by general taxation $500 per month to carry on the aqueduct power work, and it has already advanced the sum of $116,000 for this purpose.

The City Council recently authorized the engraving of $1,482,000 worth of the aqueduct power bonds. These have been signed by the city officials and are ready for delivery. The purchaser can be found. Under present conditions, the city can purchase bonds from the aqueduct bonds sinking fund, and this must be the source of supply until the bond market changes for the better.

LIQUOR PERMITS.

TWO BLOCKS CLOSED.

Two more blocks in the downtown section of the liquor zone were ordered closed by the Police Commission yesterday to the issuance of further liquor permits for a period of two years.

One of these blocks is South Main street, between Fourth and Fifth streets, where 50.2 per cent. of the eligible frontage in the block was signed to the closing petition. The other block that was closed is West Fifth street, between Hill street and Broadway, where 51.6 per cent. of the eligible frontage was signed.

This now closes forty-five blocks within the liquor zone to the issuance of further liquor permits.

The Police Commission yesterday granted a transfer of the No. 2 restaurant liquor permit for No. 119 North San Pedro street from Chodas, Fukushima to Mackintosh. The commission denied the application for a No. 2 restaurant liquor permit made by Watan and Tikan for No. 303 East First street.

MUST REGULATE.

AUTO PASSENGER CARRYING.

It was the turn of the Police Commission yesterday to take a whack at the auto passenger-carrying service that has sprung up in various portions of the city, in competition with the electric lines. It came about when the statement was made that a large number of the drivers of these machines are applying for chauffeur's permits.

routes on a regular schedule. When they come into direct competition with a 5-cent fare on established electric lines, there is grave possibility of their reducing the street car traffic to the extent that the electric lines will reduce the number of cars. The auto passenger service must be regulated, or it will militate against good public policy.

Will Apply for Pension.

The Police Commission was informed yesterday that Mrs. Albert V. Murray will apply to the police pension board for a pension at its next meeting. Patrolman Murray was shot last week in the performance of his duty, and died within a short time. The Police Commission yesterday referred to the pension board the formal report of his death. It also recommended that the City Council provide $175 for the funeral expenses of this officer.

Would Change the Ordinance.

Some months ago an ordinance was adopted by the City Council, providing that only one permit for a distillery shall be granted in this city. It appears that this works a direct hardship upon certain wineries that desire to use the by-products of their plants in distilleries, and that they must violate the spirit of the ordinance if they would properly operate their concerns.

This condition was presented to the Police Commission yesterday and it decided to request the Council to amend the ordinance, so that all wineries shall have the right to operate distilleries, or else repeal the entire ordinance.

Street Opening Project.

The City Engineer informed the Council yesterday that the petition from the Compton Avenue Improvement Association for the opening and widening and the extension of Long Beach avenue from Washington street to Slauson avenue is not a majority petition. The subject was referred to the Public Works Committee and the hearing will be given on the petition tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

The total frontage of the assessment district proposed is 24,549 feet. The frontage, exclusive of the 14,805 feet of the Pacific Electric Company's right of way, is 10,744 feet. Necessary for a majority is 42,275 feet, while on the petition presented there are 45,961 feet of frontage represented.

That Smoke Nuisance.

One serious objection has been found to the new location of the public library, in that it is subject to the smoke nuisance. The smoke and soot from the large buildings drifts into the library and is doing serious damage to books and other materials. Complaint has been made by the library officials to the City Attorney and Health Commissioner, and the City Attorney has advised that this is a matter for the City Prosecutor to handle. It is probable that additional legislation will be required.

Municipal Bids.

The Police Commission yesterday approved the action of Chief of Police Sebastian in firing Patrolman V. Biby $75 for making an incomplete report to a superior officer.

The City Engineer presented to the Board of Public Works yesterday specifications for furnishing to the city 16,000 barrels of 75 per cent. road oil to be delivered on or before September 15, and to be delivered by pressure spray from motor trucks.

A petition has been presented to the City Council to place West Fourth street, from Hill to Olive, in the fire district.

The Harbor Commission yesterday approved the specifications for the millwork on Shed No. 1, Pier A, and will open bids for the work on October 3. The commission awarded to Mrs. Smith's mother, the contract for sheet metal work on this shed for $4595, and to the California Hardware Company the contract for hardware for the shed, for $6745.

At the Courthouse.

SHE A CHILD AND HE A MAN.

YOUTH OBEYS INSTINCTS, AND TROUBLE FOLLOWS.

Husband Chastises Wife Who Stays Out Late and Then Sues for Divorce—She Sues for Divorce, but Decree is Denied. Married Since March.

Youth will have its way. Mrs. Norma Smith, 19, found the settled ways of her husband, Dr. J. Marion Smith, 56, irksome. When coupled with the chastisement he administered for her habit of going out and staying until he entered her pleasure to return, the bride left home and brought suit for divorce, alleging cruelty.

The case was called by Judge Monroe yesterday, and the disparity in the ages of the couple caused him to ask Mrs. Smith's mother: "Why did you let this child marry a man of his age?"

"Well, we have known him a long time. He said he would be good to her and he had money and property."

According to Mrs. Smith, her husband called her names, threatened to shoot her and throw her out of a window, and once told her to "pack your trunk and beat it."

Letters introduced indicated clearly the strength of Dr. Smith's love for his child bride—they were married last March.

"Dear lovely Norma, will you please come home," he wrote under date of May 16. "I will give you a deed to the house and the furniture and buy you an automobile. I chastise you too much for going away every day and staying so long. I thought you did not care for me."

In another letter he wrote her he was on the verge of death and begged her to come home. The decree was denied.

HEROISM COUNTS.

BOYS' HELP SAVE SCHOOL.

The fact that they proved themselves heroes at the Ann-street school fire Monday and helped save the piano and a number of chairs, stood Frank Rodriguez and Delino Morales in good stead yesterday, when they were hailed into Juvenile Court on a charge of having participated in the attempted burglary of a grocery at No. 1453 North Main street, last Wednesday. Judge Taft released the boys on probation.

It was shown that Alfonso Padilla, was the ringleader of these forgers who broke into the store in search of candy. Frank and Delino acted as pickets. Alfonso, apprehended by the storekeeper, spoiled the candy by mixing it with lard and tobacco. He is only 14, but is a hard customer, according to the records of the probation department. He has been in trouble repeatedly, and Judge Taft declared yesterday his conviction that the only thing that will cure him, Alfonso was committed.

A teacher from the Ann-street school spoke in behalf of the other boys, each 14 years old. She said Frank and Delino are among the best boys in the school and never have been in difficulty before. When the teacher had concluded telling of the lads' prowess at the fire, Judge Taft gave them a lecture on the folly of associating with evil companions.

VALUATIONS DIFFER.

In comic opera, and sometimes in real life, skinned milk masquerades as cream, and this would appear to be the case of a merchandise store at No. 2227 Central avenue. This store, with its stock of merchandise, was valued at $10,000 in a trade, but when it was appraised for the Assessor its stock was worth only $500, according to testimony adduced yesterday before Judge Jackson.

This came out in the trial of A. Herdan's suit against E. O. Hanson. Mr. Herdan owned the merchandise store, and on a valuation of $10,000 he sued for a lot in the University section and for $5000 on the University property, according to the complaint, and $1000 and $5000 for the forty acres in Montana. The plaintiff alleges both properties were worth not to exceed $2000, and he is suing to recover $3000 damages.

The defendant brought out the fact that the merchandise stock of Mr. Herdan's was assessed at only $400. According to the plaintiff, the assessor never saw the stock. The trial will continue today.

WRONG OIL.

WIDOW WINS SUIT.

The award of $17,000 damages to Mrs. May Catlin against the Union Oil Company by a jury in Judge Morrison's court for the death of her husband, John Catlin, November 21, 1912, stands, the court yesterday denying the company's motion for a new trial. Mr. Catlin was fatally burned by an explosion of gasoline, and the trial of his widow's $50,000 damage suit brought out a singular fact.

It appeared that Mr. Catlin was formerly a miner, and among his possessions were a miner's cap and lamp. He filled the lamp with what he supposed was coal oil, but it proved to be gasoline. He then went into the cellar of his Sawville cottage to excavate. The gasoline exploded and he was terribly burned, dying on the lawn a few moments later.

It was shown at the trial that William M. Riley, a grocer, and named as a defendant, had bought the gasoline from the company, the company, the gasoline having been poured into the coal oil tank of the company's delivery wagon in error and delivered in a five-gallon can to Mr. Riley. The latter sold a portion of it to Mr. Catlin in error.

ANOTHER WAR.

AVAILON IN ACTION.

The war in Avalon which at times assumed considerable proportions may be settled when Judge Myers decides the case of William C. Lefavor against City Clerk Elder and the City of Avalon, which comes on for trial today. Lefavor is asking for a writ of mandamus to compel the City Clerk to act on a referendum petition to suspend the operation of Ordinance No. 42 and submit it to a vote of the citizens.

The City Clerk sets up as a defense as Mr. Lefavor alleges, to discriminate in favor of certain parties. The City Clerk's defense is advised by City Attorney Baker that Ordinance No. 42 is not subject to the referendum. Lefavor asserts that the ordinance is not immediate required for the preservation of public peace, life and safety. A warm fight is expected.

DIDN'T HAVE TIME.

INTENDED TO REPAY.

Frank E. Powers, for some time Pacific Coast manager of the insurance business for J. S. Freilighusen, No. 111 William street, New York, with offices in the Clunie building, San Francisco, was on trial in Judge Willis' court before a jury on a charge of embezzling $500 of the funds belonging to Mr. Freilighusen, who was in the city on business.

It was alleged that Mr. Powers had appropriated the money belonging to his employer, and invested it as part payment on the stock of the Pacific Coast Insurance Company. Mr. Powers admitted using the money but it was a part of his defense that it was not time for him to make his return to the New York office. He alleged the usual period he would have made good the check. Asst. Dist. Atty. Keyes made the statement that the embezzlement of Mr. Powers amounted to a much larger sum than indicated in the indictment, but the jury was instructed by Judge Willis to ignore the statement. The case will go to the jury today.

SUE AS ONE.

COUNTRY AS DEFENDANT.

Twenty-five material and labor men, with claims aggregating $40,000, consolidated their claims in a mechanics' lien suit against Rollins & Jarecki, the county of Los Angeles, and the American Surety Company to recover on the $12,000 bond of Rollins & Jarecki, contractors, in the construction of the road through Santa Susana Pass.

The contract price for this road, 6000 feet, was $25,000. The contractors failed to complete the road. Martin C. Marsh was appointed receiver for Rollins & Jarecki and after four weeks' work on the road, it was taken up by the county and finished. There now remain in the hands of the county, it is alleged $500 which figures in the action which is on trial before Judge Welborn.

NO PAY, NO SEE.

GETS ANOTHER CHANCE.

W. J. McCandless, who failed to appear in court in a failure to provide charge and was committed to the County Jail, was given another chance by Judge Monroe yesterday. He was released on his promise to care for his children by a former wife.

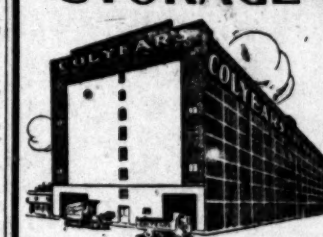

"Car I see the children, Your Honor?" Mr. McCandless asked. "When you pay the order of the court for this month you may," replied Judge Monroe. Mr. McCandless has a second wife.

COURTHOUSE PARAGRAPHS.

PROCEEDINGS IN BRIEF.

JUDGMENT AWARDED. L. Kasmit was awarded $3200 against the Seattle Brewing and Milling Company by a jury in Judge Densmore's court yesterday. The jury found that the company was liable for the death of a motor truck of the defendant's struck him on Main street. He alleged negligence on the part of the driver. Suit was brought for $8000.

PROBATE ESTATE. The will of Samuel J. Smith, of Smith-Booth-User Company, who died on the 20th inst., was filed for probate yesterday, on the petition of his widow, Laura May Smith. The estate is appraised at $75,000. It consists of cash, traction engines and machinery, promissory notes and real estate, including 320 acres in Fresno county. Mrs. Smith and the Los Angeles Trust & Savings bank are named as executors of the will. One-half of the estate goes to the widow, and the remaining half is divided among the children, Lloyd Smith, and Frances L. Smith. The daughters are to receive the income when they reach the age of 25 years when they become the sole possessors. The age of the son when he will inherit the property is fixed at 30 years.

VIGOROUS TRIAL. After a vigorous trial, a jury in Judge Myers' court yesterday decided the suit of J. Leuthener against Charles Silent, which involved a well driven on Mr. Silent's orange ranch at Glendora. Mr. Leuthener sued for $1400 and judgment was given for the plaintiff for $1230.

CAN'T STAY GOOD. Exel Rayford, colored, just could not stay good. He could not resist temptation. Time after time he had failed to make good. He was put on probation and violated it by abstracting small sums of money from his father. The latter declared he could not control his son, and yesterday Judge Taft of the Juvenile Court committed him to jail until he is 21. He has four years to serve.

NEW MACHINE STOLEN. Schuyler Cole, clerk of Judge York's court and a son of former United States Senator Cole, was feeling blue yesterday. He was a dark cloud on the sky of his existence. Some unprincipled person stole his new Humphobile while he was attending a Grand-avenue theater Monday evening. The thief rubbed it in on Mr. Cole because, although he has owned six machines from time to time, this is the first that has been stolen.
